Addition of new campus, South University – Cleveland

South University – Cleveland

The South University – Cleveland campus facility is conveniently located in Warrensville Heights, part of the Cleveland metropolitan area and just Southeast of the city. Warrensville bills itself as “The Friendly City” and is within easy distance of downtown Cleveland and Lake Erie and close to interstates 480 and 271. The campus offers quick and easy access to both.

The South University – Cleveland campus facility will include faculty offices, lecture classrooms and appropriate technology to enhance learning, including wireless internet access, video conferencing equipment, “smart” classroom technology and student computer labs.

South University – Cleveland library is designed to support general education and the programs to be offered at the Cleveland campus. The library is designed to provide comfortable seating and study space and will include print and online books, periodicals, journals, CDs, videos, newspapers and numerous databases. Reviews, catalogs, publisher/vendor recommendations, faculty/student recommendations, comparisons with holdings of other libraries, and identifying and acquiring resources are methods used in collection development to ensure collections support the Cleveland campus’s programs at all levels.

South University—Cleveland offers students a broad-based core curriculum designed to promote critical thinking and effective verbal and written communication. The Cleveland campus will provide a comprehensive education and give students an opportunity to experience a philosophy that values both learning and a contribution and commitment to the advancement of community.

South University – Accelerated Graduate Programs

South University Accelerated Graduate Programs are based on the philosophy that qualified students seeking a graduate education should have the opportunity to learn in a supportive environment from outstanding faculty in a format that meets their personal needs. The Accelerated Graduate Programs at South University are structured for students with busy lives that might be changing careers, starting a new career or advancing their position within an existing career.

The accelerated, 12-month programs are built for motivated individuals who believe that education doesn't have to stop when their life or career starts, and students should have opportunities to seek the level of education that can support their personal goals.

The 12-month graduate programs are intensive, with an entire graduate education presented in a compressed time frame, so students should consider the discipline necessary to meet program requirements. However individuals able to meet deadlines in their everyday life and career should be able to meet the demands of the 12-month curriculum structure. The program format is built to provide students with both faculty interaction through "smart" classrooms and industry-utilized video conferencing technology and the convenience of online learning.

Accelerated Graduate Program faculty are selected based on their industry experience and educational background. For example, supply chain management may be taught by faculty that built supply chain systems for major multinational corporations, strategy may come from an international leader in CRM, customer relationship management and analysis may come from industry leaders in data mining and decision making.

Nurse Educator Specialization

Nurse educators combine clinical expertise and a passion for teaching into rich and rewarding careers. These professionals, who work in the classroom and the practice setting, are responsible for preparing and mentoring current and future generations of nurses. Nurse educators play a pivotal role in strengthening the nursing workforce, serving as role models and providing the leadership needed to implement evidence-based practice.

Nurse educators are responsible for designing, implementing, evaluating and revising academic and continuing education programs for nurses. These include formal academic programs that lead to a degree or certificate, or more informal continuing education programs designed to meet individual learning needs.
